Giclee Reproductions

Giclee Art Prints (pronounced "gee-clay") is the term used for what is currently the most advanced digital fine art printmaking technology. High quality digital images are created from the original artwork and printed with 8-color to 12-color professional printers and archival quality inks onto various surfaces.

The giclée printing process provides incredibly detailed prints that last longer (in excess of 120 years) and have a brighter, crisper gamut of color that is far beyond that of lithography, producing a print that is rival to the original painting.

Each Giclée canvas will be shipped, already stretched, ready to be framed directly by Giclee Canada. We're very excited to be able to offer giclée fine art prints of Richard's work. We hope you enjoy them.
